Local Businesses Meet Consumer Needs During Coronavirus | KTVU San Francisco

KTVU San Francisco Live — Our Town America of San Francisco owner, Suzi Dupries, says that local businesses are open and ready to serve their community during the Coronavirus pandemic. Small businesses continue to meet consumer's shopping needs by implementing new ways of delivering goods and services.

Dupries' partnered local businesses have also transitioned during this time, one example of this is contactless ordering and delivery. Consumers can order products from their favorite local businesses over the phone or online and have their products delivered to them without breaking social distancing rules.

Dupries stresses the importance of shopping local during this time, here are some small business facts to consider:

- Small businesses account for 99.7% of all businesses in the U.S.
- For every dollar spent at a small business, approximately $0.67 stay in the community.

Our Town America wants small business owners, as well as consumers, impacted by COVID-19 to know they aren’t in this alone.

Watch the full KTVU San Francisco clip below.

—

Our Town America supports small businesses across the nation 365 days per year. If you’re a local San Francisco-area business looking for a way to reach out to new or current customers, reach out to Suzi Dupries at 415-755-4574 or dupries.suzi@ourtown.net

If your business is located outside the San Francisco area, you can reach Our Town America headquarters at 1-800-497-8360 to get connected with your local representative.